About Us

As one of the sixteen degree granting bodies that make up Boston University, MET gives non-traditional students a remarkable range of choices for study to enrich their lives or advance their careers -- or both.

We offer undergraduate and graduate degrees, diploma and certificate programs, and individual courses for the more casual student.

At MET you can:

Advance your career. Get the knowledge and training you need to achieve success and secure the job you really want.

Enrich your life. In addition to the courses in our degree programs, the casual student looking for personal fulfillment through education can also choose from a list of fascinating individual courses.

Enjoy academic prestige. Get a high-quality education from Boston University, one of the world's best known and most prestigious universities.

Learn from the best. MET's accomplished faculty have achieved real world success to complement their academic credentials.

Choose your location. Attend classes at a location convenient for you at several Boston sites, abroad, online, or at other locations.

Design your program. Develop a program of study tailored for your specific needs and background.

Afford your education. Don't let BU's prestigious reputation fool you. Tuition at MET is surprisingly affordable.

Maintain your career and personal life. Many courses at MET are offered in the evening, so you can study at night and keep your day job. And because you can study full-time or part-time, at a pace that works for you, you don't have to turn your personal life upside down to get the education you want.
