

EcoTeach

Where travel can change the world.

Welcome to EcoTeach

At EcoTeach, we provide ecology-oriented expeditions to Costa Rica, Mexico and Alaska for student groups, individuals, families and learners of all ages.

Our expeditions are unlike any other. Sure, you'll visit volcanoes and raft on rivers. You'll meet monkeys, sloths and birds of every color. You'll trek through rainforests on foot and fly on zip lines high above the canopy.

But you'll also stay a night or two with a local farming family. You'll spend a weekend protecting endangered sea turtles and their hatchlings. And you'll work side by side with local environmentalists on projects to protect the delicate balance of some of the world's richest ecologies.

When you travel with EcoTeach, you'll leave knowing you helped in some small way to change the world, and that your travels helped change you a little, too.
